WASHINGTON, FEBRUARY 2, 1889.

MR. HARRISON'S CABINET.

Without entering into any speculation as to which of the several distinguished and available Republicans the Presidentelect will invite to his Cabinet, we may be permitted to observe that it never behooved a Chief Magistrate of this Govern-advisors. From a mere partisan standpoint it must be obvious to Mr. Harrison that much depends upon the character of his administrative associates in the effort to give permanency to the powers of his ment to be more conservative or to exercise greater care in the selection of his party and stability to its principles. The sectional question, which has not entirely died out, in spite of the disposition to say it has, is the first to be practically handled, and in doing it the utmost delicacy and prudence must be observed. To perpetuate its ascendancy the Republican party must have the unqualified co-operation of one or more of the Southern States, for not until this is substantially accomplished can it be said that the war of sections is ended. What can be done at the approach of the new rule by forming the administrative lines is something for grave consideration. The necessity for strengthening the party power in doubtful Northern and border States will surely have its influences in forming the Cabinet, and it is not altogether certain that it would be unwise to select at least one from a moderately close Southern State. Certainly there will be room for a number of sub-heads of Departments from that quarter, and it is naturally anticipated that the South will not be entirely ignored.

That Mr. Harrison's predelictions are rather strongly disposed toward Virginia is pretty generally recognized, since it is known as his ancestral State, and he is accredited with having said previous to the election that his highes was to come out of the contest with the votes of Indiana and Virginia on his side. The knowledge of this has given some encouragement to the friends of a distinguished Virginia Republican, and there has been an earnest effort to urge his selection upon the Presidential at-

On this point we have no suggestion to make except that the suaviter in mode will be more effective in selecting Southern helpers than will be the fortiter in re.

What the country wants is a peaceful, prudent and wise administration; a party control that will not invite any issue to impair the unity of States or destroy the fraternal exercise of Federal power.

Mr. Harrison will be welcomed to the White House with the pride of the people expressed for his high citizenship, his honorable ancestry and his unblem ished character, and the hope of all sections will be for a peaceful and unsullied administration.

BOULANGER was greatly ridiculed over the result of his duel with M. Floquet. It made him the laughing stock of all France, but the French do not allow such trifles to interfere with their love of excitement and the man they laugh at today is wept over to-morrow.

IN THE discussion of a bill to appropriate $15,000 for a life-size oil portrait of Lincoln, painted by D. F. Travis, Senator Palmer said he had "never heard of so much money being paid for a modern portrait. It might be worth $2,500 if the artist had a very high reputationotherwise not." This seems an odd view to be taken in making a purchase of this kind for the Government. What we want is a fine portrait and not the reputation of the painter. The Government cannot afford to invest in reputations, because it is not buying to sell again, neither should it pay more for ancient work than for modern if the modern is just as good. It is very poor encouragement to modern artists that they are not to be paid as well as their predecessors for work of equal merit, and that they cannot be recognized by their own government until they have made great reputations. The purchase of this picture for $15,000 will give the artist all the reputation necessary if the work is really good, but if it is an ordinary daub fifteen cents is more than the Government should pay.

THE PENNSYLVANIA COAL dealers have lost heavily this season on account of the mild weather. They have mined more coal than they have been able to sell, and prices have dropped sensibly.

WARS ALWAYS result beneficially to somebody. The conflict in dry goods between New York and Chicago will help the people. The jobbers are jobbing each other fearfully, and prices of all foreign and domestic goods have toppled down.

IN THE CRITIC mail this morning came an anonymous communication from Georgetown, beginning as follows and inclosing a clipping from a newspaper; Dear Sir: The inclosed was printed some days since in your paper and is hardly an accident, etc., etc." If the writer of the communication will call at this office and show a copy of Tax Carrie containing the article he objects to he will be presented with a certified check for $5,000, half to himself and half to the poor of Georgetown. Now is the time for a ffewspaper traducer to apologize or to be of some benefit to somebody.

Not long ago Sepator Blackburn went out to Western Texas on a pleasure excursion, and en route took in the Indian Territory. He was so pleased with its green, blue-grassy ap-pearance that he concluded to make a borseback journey through part of it. One day, when he was riding alone, taking in all the giories of the great pasture land, he was over-taken by a well-imounted, well-armed and well-dressed red-skin, who spoke a little Eng-

"Cow man, ch?" was his first inquiry.
"Oh, no; I'm just looking at this fine country. I don't live here! I live in Kentucky.
"Kentuck! Ugh! You got whisky?"
The Senator had a small flask of "Old Crow" in his side pocket, and immediately produced it. In a little time the aboriginal wanted a second drink, and finally the whole flask; but after giving him two small "jiggers" the civilities were brought to an end.
That evening, when the Senator was in the public room of the hotel at the little Texas town, he told the cfreumstance of having met the Indian, and said:

"In all my life I have never seen any human being on God Almighty's green earth that ever had a tithe of the appreciation for a bottle of whisky that this red-skin manifested. Gentlemen, I am telling you not a whit more than the absolute truth when I say that Indian begun by offering me his repeating Colt's rifle and ended by dismounting from bis horse and offering me his Arrapahoe blanket, his Mexican silver-mounted saddle, his gup, pistols and the horse itself for what remained in my flask. I really believe he would have given me his leggings, moccasine, gee string and all and gone back naked for just that little modicum of whisky."

"Well, Senator," said one of his auditors, "why didn't you trade with him?"

"Trade with him?" exclaimed the Kentuckian in utter astonishment at such a suggestion. "My God, man! it was the last half pint I had."

End of the Express War. The express war which has brought rates in many cases below the actual cost of transportation is ended. An agreement was signed yesterday by the presidents of the several companies. By it the rates existing in all competitive business previous to May 1, 1886, are re-established.

Mrs. Harrison May Stay East. Mrs. Harrison received a number of callers at the Glisey House yesterday, including John F. Plummer, Frederick W. Astor and wife, Rev. Dr. Paxton and A. T. Oliphant. Mrs. Harrison is thinking of staying at the Glisey or as the guest of Mrs. Morton until the In-

Indiana White Caps. White Caps have made their appearance at North Manchester. Dr. W. H. Clair was assaulted on the principal street of the place, and ordered to leave town. The White Caps beat Clair over the head and shoulders with clubs, and then fired revolvers at him, one of the bullets inflicting a painful wound. Clair claims to have recognized some of his assailants, and will prosecute them.

Martial Law Wanted.

The lower house of the Kausas Legislature on Thursday, after expressing regret at the on Lursday, after expressing regret at the murder of John M. Clayton, in Arkansas, unanimously adopted the following concurrent resolution: Resolved, That the Congress of the United States he requested to adopt such measures as will sectire to every citizen of the States at one time in open rebellion perfect protection in the exercise of all political rights, though it be necessary to place such States under military authority.

A desperate movement has been organized to lynch Hon. Frank W. Pope at Madison, Fig., because he is engaged in collecting evidence in support of the contest entered by F. S. Goodrich, Republican candidate for Congress. So far the authorities have been able to protect him.

Jersey's Defective Jury Law. The trial of Mike Bolak for the murder of Mike Bolenshim, which was to take place at Mike Bolenshim, which was to take place at Beividere, N. J., next Tuesday, has been postponed for four weeks by order of Chief Justice Beasley, owing to the defect in the law concerning juries. By the same defect Elder was illegally hauged in Atlantic County, Patrick J. Coffee was illegally convicted of murder and sent to prison for life, and it also stopped the murder trial in progress this week in Mercer County. A bill to correct the defective law was introduced in the House this week, and will probably be passed next Monday.

University Girls in Uniforms. The female battalion is an established and active fact at the university. The uniactive fact at the university. The uniforms have arrived, officers have been elected, and regular drill commenced with an ardor that boues no good to the male battalion when they meet their belligerent amazon compeers on the bloodiess field of the proposed sham battle. The uniform is not particularly handsome, though the fair wearers of it praise it for its ease and comfort. It consists of a short full skirt, kilt in front, blouse waist, with full sleeves and rolling collar. Over the blouse is worn a black zouwre jacket, with with full stoeves and rolling collar. Over the blouse is worn a black zouave jacket, with high collar. It is said that the warlike pro-pensities of the ladies were fully evidenced during the six weeks it took them to decide upon it, and that the propensities did not die out was proven by the election. More Correspondence Submitted to Congress By the President. The President yesterday submitted to Congress correspondence from the State Department on Samoan affairs. The Secretary of State informs the President that upon the receipt of a dispatch from Consul Blacklock, at Apia, January 12 Ziving information of the declaration of war by Germany against Mataafa, and the proclamation of martial law in the island, he instructed Minister Pendleton at Berim to inform the German Government that 10 declaration of martial law could extend German jurisdiction so as to include control of Americans, in Samoa. Such a pretention could not be recognized or conceeled by this travernment.

Following this action came a latter to Secretary Bayard from County Arco Valley, the German Minister at Washington, dated February 1, as follows: As a state of war was declared against Mataafa, the commander of the German squadron issued a proclamation by which the foreigners established in Samoa were submitted to martial law. International law sul Blacklock, at Apia, January W giving inwhich the foreigners established in Samoa were submitted to martial law. International law would to a certain extent, not prevent such a measure, but Prince Bismarck is of opinion that as our military suthority has gone too far in this instance, the military cammander has received telegraphic orders to withdraw the part of the proclamation concerning for-signers.

In negotiating with Mataga our Consul at Samoa has asked that the administration of the Islands of Samoa might be temporarily banded over to him, which demand, not being in conformity to our previous promise regard-ing the neutrality and independence of Samoa, Mr. Knappe has been ordered by telegram to withdraw immediately his command.

A SYSTEM OF ESPIONAGE.

German Army and Naval Officers Who Have Been Spying Upon Us. The New York Times' Washington correspondent says, in connection with the report that Germany has sent a Heutenaut to report on American military affairs, that similar espionage is now and has for some time been in progress. It says that Baron von Stomberg, an officer of high rank in the German army, was present incognito at the Zaliuski dynamite gun tesis a few days ago. He was recognized, despite his disguise, by naval officers who had met him abroad.

The correspondent also states that about six yoars ago it was learned that accurate drawings of our defenses were in possesion of Germany, and on investigating the matter it was learned that a number of German officers had shortly before that time enlisted as privates in our army, remaining only long enough to gain the desired information, and then deserting. Similar occurrences were discovered in the naval service, German officers being actually serving as sailors on United States naval vessels for a time and then deserting.
